“ Memories of my Uncle Bill. Some will know but most will not. My memories revolve around his old country store and deer hunting. On mornings of the hunt, he would load up snacks, sandwich meat, bread, crackers, potted meat etc. into his hunting truck and would sell these items throughout the day. We called it the Roling Store. This was a haven to hungry deer hunters and whomever else happened to come by. I also remember him killing a huge buck on the road just off Steed Cemetary road heading toward Mills Barn. That wasn't the memorable part for me. For me it was he was barefooted when it happened. Not sure what happened to his shoes or why they were off, but he had mud between his toes and smiling and laughing. Such great memories of a great uncle.
