“ From the very first moment I met Papaw Jimmy and Mamaw Kay I felt at home. These were some of the greatest people I've ever known and I'm thankful for the yime spent with them. These folks were loving and caring and above all patient! (Haha) with a know-it-all kid who didn'tknow anything at all. Papaw Jimmy was always one of the hardest working men and quick to volunteer his helping hand whenever someone needed it. This is a trait he passed down to his son Barry who always seemed to know how to take on and fix any problem that I ever encountered. I will forever be thankful for the lessons the laughs the tears and time I spent with these amazing people.
